Check in to the DAMSEFLY INN, and fall in love with Thornton, Vermont

The picturesque college town of Thornton, Vermont is the perfect place to open an inn. Or so Nan Grady thinks until a late summer storm drops a tree branch through her roof and local contractor Joss Fuller into her path.

Bannerwing Books is thrilled to introduce DAMSEFLY INN, a warm, contemporary romance from Cameron D. Garriepy - a story not only of two people finding love, but of a woman building a dream and creating a home in a tight-knit community.

As summer fades to autumn and Joss becomes a fixture around the Damselfly Inn, Nan navigates the joys and complications of life in her new hometown. But when mysterious vandalism targets the inn, threatening Nan and her guests, as well as her budding relationship with Joss, Nan questions her place in the town, at the inn, and in Joss's heart.

DAMSEFLY INN is the first full-length novel set in the fictional town of Thornton, a location inspired by the author's college years in Middlebury, VT. Garriepy's prose is, in turn, lush and whimsical, lending authenticity to the lives of Thornton's quirky and mostly charming residents.

DAMSEFLY INN is currently available for preorder on Amazon. The novel will be available in print and for Amazon Kindle on 4.13.15.

About Cameron D. Garriepy

An Aries, a self-described shenaniganist, and an unabashed romantic, Cameron writes romantic fiction and genre-crossing short stories from the metro-Boston area, where she lives with her husband, son, and a poorly behaved pug.

In the eighth grade, Cameron wrote her first romance novel on an antique typewriter, using a stack of pink paper. Detours between that draft and publishing her first novel included a BA in Music from Middlebury College, a professional culinary education, and twelve years in the child-wrangling industry.

Cameron's adventures in flash fiction can be found on her blog at <http://camerondgarriepy.com>, and she is the founder of and senior editor at Bannerwing Books.
